

USBC Youth Leaders Program

If you're enthusiastic, energetic and ready to take a leadership role in promoting the sport of bowling, then USBC wants you to become a Youth Leader. Put your leadership skills to use and earn scholarship money for college through the USBC Youth Leaders program.

As a USBC Youth Leader, you'll be a key part of the USBC's youth bowling efforts, helping to shape the future of our sport and expand USBC Youth membership. By becoming a USBC Youth Leader, you'll learn important skills and have a dynamic role in making important decisions for bowling, including coordinating and leading meetings, coordinating youth programs and recruiting bowlers, fundraising, planning tournaments, awarding scholarships, and coaching, training and mentoring youth bowlers.

The best USBC Youth Leaders aspire to win the Youth Ambassador of the Year Award and the $1,500 scholarship that goes with it. Two Youth Ambassadors of the Year - one male and one female - are selected each year and one winner may be chosen to join the IBC Youth Committee. Every local association with an operating Youth Leaders Program should enter a male and female each year into the Youth Leader of the Year competition.
